Tornadoes Rake South

At Least 12 Persons Killed, 130 Hurt;
New Winter Storm from Gulf to Canada

By United Press
Killer tornadoes raked Mississippi Wednesday night on the southern edge of a storm that also blasted sections of the West with blizzard conditions today and dumped drenching rains in the Midlands.

The new winter storm ranged from the Gulf to the Canadian border. Snow whipped by winds of 30 to 50 miles an hour swept from the western Dakotas to northern Oklahoma this morning, cutting visibility to about one mile.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago issued warnings of local blizzard conditions today for an area from central North Dakota to central Nebraska. Visibility near zero was expected throughout the area.

Cold wave warnings were out for the eastern Dakotas and northwest Minnesota where temperatures were expected to tumble to zero or below.

Twisters Wreck Towns
At least 12 persons were killed and about 130 persons seriously injured in the Mississippi twisters. More than a dozen tornadoes slammed into the state and another hit in Louisiana. Among the Mississippi victims was a 107-year-old Negro woman.

In the North, five persons were killed and two others injured Wednesday night in a two-car collision on a rain-washed highway near Sioux Falls, S. D. The dead, three Negro adults and two children from Sioux Falls, all were believed to be riding in the same car.

Hardest hit by the Mississippi tornadoes was the town of Walnut Grove northwest of Jackson. One woman was killed and 28 persons were injured in the twister which damaged half the homes in the town of 600 persons.

Another tornado "flattened" the community of Brewer in southeast Mississippi, killing a mother and her son. Other twisters hit the hamlet of Farmhaven, killing five persons and injuring 20; a rural area in Perry County, killing one; the Winchester community in Wayne County, killing one woman, and the Fannin Road village northeast of Jackson, killing a 3-year-old girl.

The twisters crushed some homes and lifted others off their foundations.

Snows Hit North
The Louisiana tornado struck near Hosston, injuring two persons. It sent 77-mile-an-hour winds whipping into El Paso, Tex., causing damage estimated at $100,000, and kicked up giant dust clouds across Texas, New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwest Kansas.

Violent rains battered the North and turned to heavy snows as cold weather slipped in behind the storm center. The snow depths across the northern Plains ranged up to three inches at Minot, N. D., today.

Weathermen predicted depths of from two to four inches today in parts of Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota and warned that strong northerly winds will cause considerable drifting in portions of the northern and central Plains.

Members who have high school age children, are urged to bring them to the meeting to hear the etymologist, who states "the average high school and college student seems to have a natural apathy toward the study of literature." He blames the method in which it has been taught for this lack of interest.

Death Takes Mrs. Anna R. Evans, 66, Of Carrier Mills

Mrs. Anna Reynolds Evans, 66, resident of East Walnut street, Carrier Mills, died in her home at 3:15 p. m. Wednesday. Funeral services will be held in the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills at 1 p. m. Friday. Rev. Donald Dunning and Rev. Bernard Buchanan will officiate and burial will be in the Reid's chapel cemetery, better known as the Hancock cemetery.

Mrs. Evans is survived by her children as follows: Mrs. Eva Blackman and Mrs. Edith Griffith, Carrier Mills, Orlean Reynolds, Temple Hill, and Orville Reynolds, Carrier Mills RFD 1. There are 25 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren surviving. She also leaves her brothers, Dave Leverett, Eldorado, and Joe Leverett, Carrier Mills RFD 1, and her sister, Mrs. Ida Morgan, Harrisburg.

Barometer Reading Dips

The barometer reading fell to 29.10, lowest reading since Clyde Pittman began recording for the U. S. Weather Bureau, at 6:30 a. m. today. At 8 a. m. it had risen to 29.60.

The extreme low pressure caused men working at Old Ben at Buckner to be brought out of the mine because of gas hazards, it was learned this morning.

Special Meeting of County Board Saturday

Ewell Winkleman announced today that there will be a special meeting of the Saline County Board of Supervisors at 9 a. m. Saturday to discuss an ordinance requiring the erection of fences around junk yards outside corporate limits of municipalities in the county.

bell said this is an unusual case since the U. S. agreement with Spain guaranteed delivery of a certain minimum amount of military aid before Spain would agree to let the U. S. build air bases there.

—In France the United States has been unable to reclaim equipment no longer required for France's North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, because France insists the distinction between NATO and non-NATO forces is arbitrary and no equipment is excess as long as any of its forces can use it.

—Although a considerable amount of excess military equipment had been delivered to Japan at the time of the review there were no plans for recovering and redistributing it.

—Also in Japan, items no longer needed by U. S. forces in the Far East were being disposed of as surplus, while identical items were being sought from the United States as aid to other countries.

—The report was based on spot checks in approximately a dozen countries receiving U. S. aid. It showed the following evidences of waste:

—In Spain more F86 planes were delivered than pilots were available to fly them and the planes had to be stored. Camp-

Wheel Chair Donor Makes Voluntary Contribution to SYDA

Ewell Winkleman, chairman of the Saline Valley Development Association felt a glow of pride and encouragement in his work recently when a man came into his store with a voluntary contribution.

Wilburn Sanders, 410 Herbert street, Harrisburg, who is confined to a wheel chair due to a mine accident some ten years ago, "rolled" into the Winkleman store and gave Mr. Winkleman a $1 contribution for the S. V. D. A. Mr. Winkleman said that he assured Mr. Wilburn that there was no obligation for him to share his limited income with the project from which he might not realize any direct return but Mr. Sanders insisted that he wants to be a part of the work and that the gift was something that he really wanted to do.

This is the spirit, said Mr. Winkleman that makes the work as chairman rewarding.

Defeat Move To Knock Out 5-Cent Stamp

Expect Approval Of Postal Hikes, Pay Increase Bills

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today voted to let members of the armed forces overseas send regular letters postage free. The provision also would permit them to send air mail letters and parcel post packages at the present rates instead of the increased rates in the pending bill that would raise all postage rates.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate was expected to approve today a 747 million-dollar postal rate increase bill featuring a five-cent stamp for out-of-town letters. The Senate was likely to tack on a 7 1/2 per cent pay increase for about 500,000 postal employees. The rate hike is designed to cover the pay boost.

The bill then will go back to the House, which has voted for only a four-cent out-of-town letter rate.

The Senate late Wednesday defeated a move to knock out the five-cent stamp. It was a victory for President Eisenhower who sought the increase.

The action came on a 49 to 42 roll call vote which generally followed party lines. Under the administration proposal, out of town letters would cost five cents and local letters four cents. Both now go for three cents.

The five-cent stamp was written into the bill by the Senate Post Office Committee over the protest of its Democratic leaders. Only two Republicans deserted the administration when they sought to substitute a four-cent stamp for both local and out-of-town mail.

The four-cent stamp amendment was offered by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.). Five Democrats joined 44 Republicans in voting against the amendment. Two Republicans and 40 Democrats supported it.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield meantime told Congress his department is planning "a great many new postal facilities throughout the country."

In testimony made public today by a House Appropriations subcommittee, Summerfield said the new projects are part of a program now underway to modernize the post office system.

In addition to raising first class letter rates, the Senate bill would increase air mail stamps from six cents to eight, and also boost second and third class rates. Most postcards would cost three cents, a penny increase.

Second class, mostly newspapers and periodicals, would be raised 30 per cent for editorial portions and 60 per cent for advertising matter in three annual steps. Third class, mostly circulars, would go up 66 2/3 per cent in two years.

Question Stanford Student About 'Urge' That Drove Him to Kill Girl

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Authorities planned today to name a team of psychiatrists today to probe the strange "urge" that compelled 19-year-old Thomas Wallace Cordry III to kill a pretty blonde teenager.

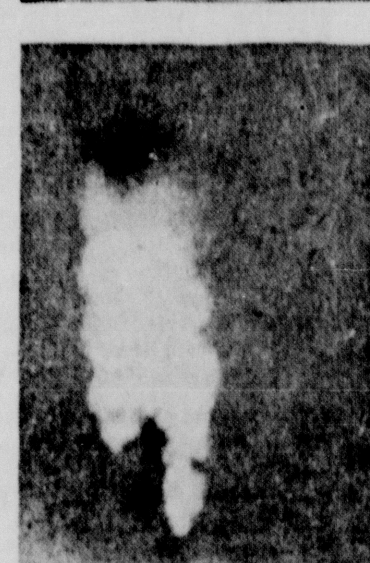

Cordry, a Stanford sophomore and the model of a clean-cut American youth, "guessed" the reason he shot and killed 17-year-old Deena Bonn with a .22 rifle was "sexual."

"I just had to shoot some girl and then rape her," he said. "But I didn't rape Deena. I couldn't."

The shooting took place Tuesday night shortly after 10 o'clock in a remote part of the Stanford campus. Young Cordry bought the rifle, then spent the whole day looking for some woman—any woman—to kill and rape.

Late that night, he settled on Deena, the girl across the street. A popular senior and an honor student at Cullyberly High School, she had the reputation of being a nice and helpful girl.

When young Cordry asked her to drive him to the railroad sta-

Kohler Worker Says He Joined UAW After Threats by Pickets

Atmosphere of Political Bickering At Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herman Miesfeld, a Kohler Co. employee, testified today that he joined the United Auto Workers Union after strikers told him to "sign up or get beat up."

But Joseph Rauh, the union's attorney, challenged the witness, and said the Senate Rackets Committee should consider bringing perjury charges against him.

Rauh said Miesfeld never mentioned being threatened when he described the incident previously to the National Labor Relations Board and the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board.

Miesfeld was today's first witness as the committee, once strictly bipartisan, resumed its investigation of the marathon Kohler strike in an atmosphere of political bickering.

Miesfeld told how he and four other non-union employees of the Sheboygan, Wis., plant were captured by a picket patrol when they sneaked across a field to report to work through a back entrance.

He said he was taken to a "strike kitchen" and told to "sign up with the union or get beat up."

"So I signed up," he said.

After that, he said, the strikers gave him coffee and doughnuts and took him home.

Miesfeld identified Emil Mazey,

UAW secretary-treasurer, and Donald Rand, and Robert Burkhardt, international representatives of the union, as among those present in the kitchen.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) commented that the UAW issued pamphlets professing to deplore violence in the strike "but had officers there actually practicing it."

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy planned to call Theodore J. Mosch, former Sheboygan sheriff, and Sheboygan Police Chief Waldemar Capelle, for more testimony on violence during the strike.

The committee was told Wednesday that an arsenal of shotguns and teargas was assembled in the company's Kohler, Wis., plant a year before the strike began.

At the same time the Senate Rules Committee at the request of Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland was trying to determine how UAW President Walter P. Reuther happened to use the Senate caucus room for a meeting with newsmen.

Reuther charged that his old foe, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) was "a political hypocrite and a moral coward." He accused the GOP senator of blocking his early appearance before the committee and of "stooging" for the Kohler firm.

Goldwater fired back that the union leader's charge was "typical of the lies that Reuther has been telling—I've called him a liar so many times I'm getting sick of it." He said Reuther "will be before the committee, and I think more than once."

Testimony to date has shown that supporters of both applicants called personally on Mack.

Mack told the subcommittee that pressure on behalf of the applicants in the case was "intense."

"I find it most difficult to slam the door in the face of a congressman or a senator or a friend," Mack said. "But I have always tried to steer the conversation away from the merits of any particular case."

"I personally invite and would support legislation which would give the commission and other similar agencies relief and protection from approaches of this nature."

Mack told the congressmen that he welcomed the opportunity "to refute the charges made by your former counsel and the innuendoes and inferences stemming from them."

Says He Has No Intention Of Resigning

FCC Member Under Fire Testifies At House Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack denied under oath today charges that his vote in a Miami television award was influenced by money and friends. He also declared that "I certainly have no intention of resigning."

Mack testified before a House Commerce subcommittee which has heard charges that he received $2,650 from a Florida attorney, Thurman A. Whiteside, who supported the successful applicant for the TV channel.

Appearing before the subcommittee for the first time since it started delving into FCC operations, Mack declared he "was not swayed or influenced" by anybody who approached him about the Miami Channel 10 case.

Mack said that if he had felt that he was "being swayed or pressured into a vote against my convictions," he would not have voted at all in the case.

He said he listened to all sides and voted his convictions based on "the record before us."

In the course of Wednesday's subcommittee session, a member, Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.)—said President Eisenhower should fire Mack. If the President does not do so, Bennett said, Congress should impeach the commissioner.

Before his appearance today a reported asked Mack if he intended to forestall any such action and resign.

"Of course not," he said. "I certainly have no intention of resigning."

Pressure was "Intense"
Whiteside has told the subcommittee the money he gave Mack was in the form of loans and that Mack had paid back most of it.

Whiteside also testified that Mack owned a one-sixth interest in a Miami insurance agency from which the commissioner has received $13,000 in the past five years.

Mack said he learned only last Monday night that this company, the Stembler-Shelden insurance agency, had sold insurance to the winning Channel 10 applicant, Public Service Television Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

The very next day, he said, he wrote to Whiteside "renouncing" his interest in the agency and instructing the attorney "to terminate" it.

Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) has said Whiteside's testimony indicated law violations which could be punished by a jail sentence.

An FCC examiner had recommended that Miami Channel 10 be awarded to Col. A. Frank Kitzentine, a Miami radio station operator. But Mack and the commission majority voted last February for the subsidiary of National Airlines.

Testimony to date has shown that supporters of both applicants called personally on Mack.

Mack told the subcommittee that pressure on behalf of the applicants in the case was "intense."

"I find it most difficult to slam the door in the face of a congressman or a senator or a friend," Mack said. "But I have always tried to steer the conversation away from the merits of any particular case."

"I personally invite and would support legislation which would give the commission and other similar agencies relief and protection from approaches of this nature."

Charges 'Shenanigans'

Audit of Foreign Aid Demand After Comptroller Report Discloses Waste

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) today demanded an overall audit of the U. S. foreign aid program. He predicted it would "reveal shenanigans that will make Ali Baba and his 40 thieves look honest."

Hays said if the House Foreign Affairs Committee, of which he is a member, refuses to make the study he is prepared to take his request and his files to the Government Operations Investigating Committee.

Administration forces were arming to battle increasingly loud charges of waste and inefficiency in the huge program.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, appearing before the Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday to spearhead the administration's drive for its four-billion dollar aid bill, urged members not to judge the entire program on the basis of isolated instances of misjudgment or waste.

No Absolute Accuracy
He said the program is vitally essential to U. S. security in the world and told the committee: "In the middle of a hot war if you make a mistake and bomb the wrong target or deliver a load of ammunition to the wrong depot you don't give up and surrender. The same thing should be true in a cold war. You simply can't expect any cold war operation to be carried on with absolute accuracy and precision. If that's the mood of America, we'd better quit."

The most recent agitation with in Congress concerning inefficiencies in the program was prompted by publication of a secret report from U. S. Comptroller General Joseph Campbell to the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Evidence of Waste
The report was based on spot checks in approximately a dozen countries receiving U. S. aid. It showed the following evidences of waste:

—In Spain more F86 planes were delivered than pilots were available to fly them and the planes had to be stored. Camp-

The Tax Cut Diagnosis

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The statistical markers are sufficiently alarming to suggest to both President Eisenhower and Congress that sharp action may be necessary to arrest and reverse the current recession. But as they contemplate it they can't help worrying over the other peril: a new inflation.

The big medicine being talked of now is, of course, a tax cut. At both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue the idea has taken deep hold. Both parties espouse it, though with somewhat different emphasis.

Yet Mr. Eisenhower voiced fears that were not his alone when he said there were risks in tinkering with the economy. We are still too close to past inflation not to be concerned about loosing another flood as we try to pull out of the drought.

If there is to be a tax slash, the two basic questions naturally are how big and for how long.

The feeling in Washington is growing that unless the business improvement occurs which the President predicts for March, a cut of at least five billion dollars may be needed to give the economy any kind of useful jolt at all.

Some think that if the move is too long delayed the shot in the arm might have to be twice as big. Considering a 10-billion-dollar reduction could give many in the capital the shakes, however, when they look ahead to what might happen when the economy really gets racing again.

That's why the notion of an automatic stopper—an expiration date for the lower tax rate—may become increasingly popular both at the White House and on Capitol Hill. A limit of a year or 10 months on a cut may be figured a wise hedge against a sudden spurt of new inflation.

The expiration date device is a very practical one for Congress to use. It is almost always easier to get the lawmakers not to do something than to take action. In such a case as this, the tax slash would end without anyone lifting a finger.

To many Americans who may have the same fears felt by their Washington leaders, the tax cut with a limit date may look sensible. They want the big medicine, but they can see the danger of letting the prescription run on indefinitely.

The four countries of England, Scotland, Ireland and France are represented on the coat of arms of Canada.

Soviets Want Ike Conference That Will By-Pass Dulles

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Behind all the monkey business and cocktail circuit pronouncements by Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow it is becoming increasingly apparent that what the Russians would like best and ultimately is a two-power conference with the U. S.

This is the qualified conclusion of some Russian experts in Washington, after sizing up Communist propaganda for a new summit meeting this year.

It is believed that the Russians would like to talk to American leaders about a mutual agreement to ban hostile propaganda, a non-aggression pact and a new treaty on U. S.-U. S. S. R. trade relations.

The package is loaded with obvious dynamite.

The Russians agreed to stop propaganda and Communist agitation in the United States in the original Roosevelt-Litvinov recognition treaty of 1933. The agreement was promptly broken by the Russians on the pretext that it was the U. S. Communist party which carried on political activities in this country—not the Russian government.

There is no assurance a new agreement would be kept any better. The Russians have resisted all American efforts to end the jamming of free world broad casts to Communist countries.

There is already a prohibition of aggression in the United Nations charter, signed by both the U. S. and U. S. S. R. What the Russians appear to want now is a non-aggression pact in which the United States would agree to give up all its overseas military bases.

This would be a first step to U. S. suicide.

The Russians would also include in non-aggression their proposal to ban the use of all atomic weapons. But they will not agree to stop production of atomic weapons and they will not agree to inspection to insure compliance.

The Russian idea of a trade agreement would be one in which they would be permitted to buy anything they wanted in the United States. This would include strategic items which are now banned to them. Today the Russians have little to sell the United States except furs and a few raw materials which can be bought elsewhere. The Russians tightly control their exports, too.

So, on an agenda of this kind the United States would have everything to lose and not a thing to gain.

But this clearly reveals why the Russians would like to sit down across a table with the United States to discuss mutual problems and relieve world tensions, as the saying goes.

The Russians now obviously do not want a foreign ministers' conference. President Eisenhower has proposed preliminary diplomatic meetings to work out arrangements which a later summit conference might then ratify.

The Russians don't want a foreign ministers' meeting because they don't want to deal with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. They consider him unwilling to negotiate with them. This is, perhaps, the highest compliment they could pay him.

The new cultural exchange treaty just signed by the United States and Russia is cited as an example of how the Russian idea of a summit meeting first, with diplomats working out details of agreements later would work. The line is that the broad areas of agreement reached at the Geneva summit conference in 1955 made possible negotiation of this cultural exchange program two and a half years later.

The inference is that another summit meeting in 1958 or a two power U. S.-U. S. S. R. conference on broad lines might result in other specific agreements by 1961.

But it is becoming increasingly clear that the Russians have no intentions of talking about the three things the United States wants most. These are unification of Germany, disarmament and greater freedom for the Communist satellite countries.

These were the three main subjects on the agenda for the 1955 summit conference. No agreements were reached at Geneva. And there is no assurance any agreements on these subjects could be reached now, at any level.

Border, King Members Of AFROTC Cadet Group To Visit Lackland Base

Harry Border and Jerry King of Harrisburg, members of the 1,500-man Air Force ROTC cadet wing at Southern Illinois University, will spend the Feb. 28-March 1 weekend visiting Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, along with 50 other classmates.

The trip is one of the several "motivational" flights arranged each school year by the AFROTC unit at Southern in order to acquaint cadets with the inner workings of the Air Force. The group will fly from Scott Air Force Base in C-119 "Flying Boxcars" and will arrive at Lackland Friday morning. They will return to the campus Saturday night.

'Spaceman' Donald Farrell Admits Having Down to Earth Problems

WASHINGTON — "Spaceman" Donald G. Farrell today admitted to having some down to earth problems—namely an ex-wife and a child.

The 23-year-old airman who became the nation's first "space" traveler by spending a week in a simulated rocket ship previously had given no indication that he had been married, although he has been the subject of many interviews.

Farrell said a published report was true that he had a former wife, Mrs. Norma J. Luraas, and a 4-year-old daughter living in Troy, N. Y.

His ex-wife and her husband want to adopt the girl, Heidi Farrell, and Farrell said he was going to let them.

"I think it would be in the best interests of the child," he told the United Press. "I can't provide a home for her."

In interviews since performing the "space" feat, however, Farrell did indicate that he is interested in another girl, Jo Ann Burden, of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

He said she knew "all about" his previous marriage. But as for getting married again, Farrell said:

"I'm not in a position to think of that now."

The airman from the Bronx, N. Y., has said he would like to attempt a real flight to the moon. Farrell is here to speak to a meeting of the new Senate Space Committee.

The New York Daily News today printed a letter from Mrs. Luraas which the newspaper said was enclosed with a Daily News picture of Farrell peering through a telescope.

Social and Personal Items

Methodist W.S.C.S. Circles Hold Meetings Wednesday

The Women's Society for Christian Service held circle meetings at 2 p. m. Wednesday as follows:

Dorcas circle met in the home of Mrs. C. L. Petty with 20 members present. Two visitors Mrs. Charles White and Mrs. James Reid, attended also. Mrs. C. E. Combe gave the devotion and Mrs. T. A. Wilkison led the prayer group. Mrs. W. F. Wendling gave the lesson and Mrs. Mabel Plumlee and Mrs. Ed Chester assisted the hostess.

Lydia circle met with Mrs. Lloyd L. Parker and in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Harley Shepherd, due to illness, Mrs. J. O. Hall presided and gave the devotion. Mrs. John R. Jackson and Mrs. Gus Syers presented the lesson and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Dewey Williams and Mrs. Don O'Neal.

Naomi circle met in the home of Mrs. DeWitt Twente with Mrs. Roy Thompson and Mrs. Jack Davern assisting. There were 16 members present and Mrs. Laura Moore led the prayer group. Mrs. Earl Mitchell gave the devotion and Mrs. James Gasaway the lesson.

Martha circle met with Mrs. George Robertson and 18 members attended. Mrs. C. E. Wing gave the lesson and Mrs. H. T. Jones the devotion. The prayer group was led by Mrs. Charles Pierson and assistant hostesses were Mrs. Helen Hill and Mrs. Louis Walker.

Ruth circle met in the home of Mrs. Gordon Guard with 13 members present. Mrs. Orville Ferrell gave the devotion and Miss Nellie Barter the lesson. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. R. C. Penfold.

Saline County Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Roy Rievey

The Saline County Garden club met in the home of Mrs. Roy Rievey Tuesday. Mrs. LeRoy Reese called the meeting to order and following the usual business session, turned it over to Mrs. Ralph Brown, program chairman.

Mrs. Brown introduced Mrs. Ethel Burley who spoke on "What is New in the Flower World." She told of new plants and seeds and new varieties of roses, gladioli, dahlias and annuals. She reviewed the work of the horticulturist, Burpee, whose experience covers 40 years or more in the development of fine flowers and the beauty of gardens. Among other things he is accredited with breeding of the offensive odor from the beautiful marigold. Her material was gathered from magazine articles and like sources and her pictures were illustrations from seed catalogues.

Mrs. Steve Farrar followed with a talk about garden sprays and pest control. She showed sprays that have been improved for garden use, some to be attached to the garden hose. She gave examples of the dormant sprays suitable for use now and spoke of the direct appliance of sprays on the plants, later in the season.

The club voted at the business meeting to hold a flower show in May, the exact date to be determined. Mention was made also of the spring meeting of Region 7 to be held in Cairo March 27.

The 21 members present answered roll call with "New is the time to—" suggestions for early spring work in the garden.

Hostesses were Mrs. Rievey, Mrs. A. M. Hetherington, Mrs. Ralph Brown and Mrs. Joseph Hart.

Birthday Dinner for Two Becomes Birthday Celebration for Three

There was a birthday dinner Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Toth, 2545 South Trumbull street, Chicago, planned to honor their son-in-law, Mel Taassaa, and their nephew, Denny Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Williams. Last minute changes were made when Mrs. Williams gave birth to a boy in a Chicago hospital on the same day.

Mr. Williams and Denny attended the dinner and the birthday cake made to celebrate two birthdays, became the symbol of a celebration for three.

There were gifts for the attending birthday celebrants and little Denny felt that the best gift of all was his new brother.

Those present at the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mitchell and children, Ricky, Rhonda and Stevie; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Rice and son, Regan; Marion Williams and Denny; Mr. and Mrs. Mel Taassaa and daughter, Tamara; Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Toth, Gary, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. William Trehy, Plainfield; Joe Cox and the hosts.

The guests were all former Harrisburg residents except Mr. Taassaa, who is from Cornstalk, Minn.

Mrs. Charles Boicourt Hostess To Lenore Circle Monday

The Lenore circle of the First Presbyterian Women's Guild met in the home of Mrs. Charles Boicourt Monday evening. Mrs. Boicourt presented the Bible study topic, "Luke the Historian" and Mrs. Louis Gall gave the lesson about "World Service." Mrs. Harry Barter gave the Yearbook of Prayer.

An interesting added attraction at the meeting was the showing of color slides of members of the Presbyterian church going from a church service, shown by the hostess.

Refreshments were served and 14 members and one guest, Mrs. Paul Halbersleben were present.

Calendar Of Meetings

Notice Masons: Special meeting Harrisburg Lodge No. 325, A. F. & A. M., Friday 7 p. m. Work in F. C. degree. Loren E. Butler, W. M.

The men of McKinley Avenue Baptist church will meet at 7 p. m. Friday at the church.

Chapter Z of P. E. O. will hold a regular meeting at 2 p. m. Friday in the home of Mrs. Fred Gilbert, 422 West Poplar street. Each member will please remember to bring her "specialty."

The Crescent Home Bureau unit will meet in the home of Mrs. Mary Piper, 201 East Lincoln, at 7:30 p. m. today.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Tindall, 316A South Webster street, Harrisburg, are parents of a boy born at the Harrisburg hospital Wednesday. The baby has been named Jeffrey Allen and weighed eight pounds, three ounces at birth.

Warn Artificial Red Fingernail Causes Injury

WASHINGTON 26—The government warned today that an artificial red fingernail known as "Ten Day Press-On" has caused "disfiguring and sometimes painful injuries" to women's nails.

The Food and Drug Administration said the manufacturer, Harrison Laboratories of New Rochelle, N. Y., was cooperating with the government in recalling the product from dealers' shelves.

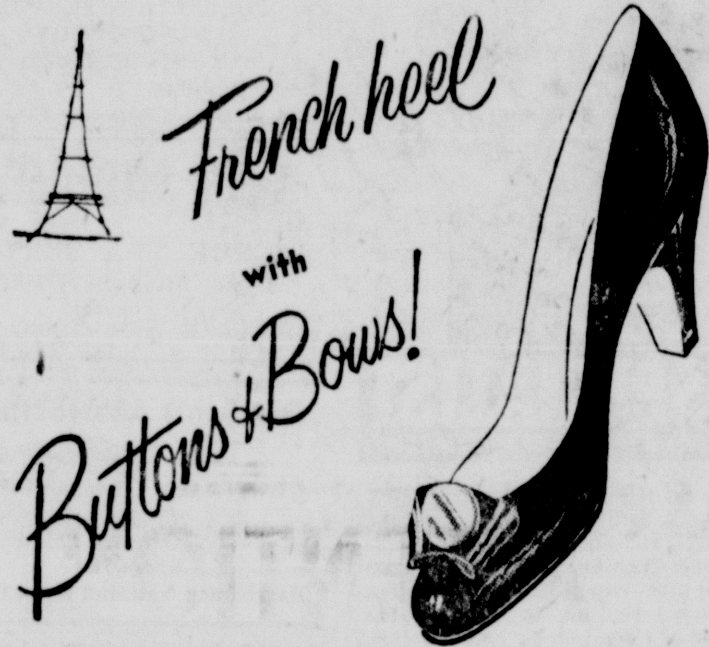

Some 700 women have complained of injuries to their nails after using the cosmetic, the FDA said. Injuries have usually developed in two to four weeks after the plastic "nails" are applied. In many cases the injury is slight, the FDA said, but sometimes the nail has broken off at the quick. There is no indication of permanent injury and torn nails apparently grow back normally, the FDA said.

About 32 million applications of "Ten Day Press-On" have been distributed since it was marketed nationally last October. Millions of these still are unused and in the possession of consumers.

SHOPPING—Looking over the line in the Carbone, Inc., space during the Chicago gift show held recently in the Palmer House hotel in Chicago, were Mrs. Grace Ozment, left, and Miss Louise Penrod, both from Lloyd L. Parker's Furniture store in Harrisburg.

State Enforcing Truck Law

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—All trucks and trailers operated upon public roads in Illinois must bear the owner's name and address and the maximum empty weight of the vehicle, state police warned today. The certificate or permit number, if any, must also be shown.

Chief William H. Morris said that although the law includes farm trucks, it exempts "farm tractors, farm machinery and implements, farm wagons, wagon trailers, or like vehicles used in agricultural pursuits." It does not include house trailers.

The state police are charged with the enforcement of the law and the prescribing of reasonable rules and regulations. The lettering must be at least two inches high and in a color contrasting to that of the vehicle. It may be painted or otherwise permanently fixed on both sides of the vehicle.

If a vehicle carries a seal or trademark sufficiently well known to clearly identify the owner, the requirement of the address may be waived by the state police, upon application.

Barber Recounts Performing Victor Borge Marriage Ceremony 5 Years Ago

HARRY HARMON HAS INTERESTING STORY FOR PATRONS

It was a rainy St. Patrick's Day evening in 1953 when a wedding party called at the Shawneetown home of Harry Harmon, who served as Gallatin County judge from 1951-1954. At the time, the ceremony was considered just another wedding by the jurist who recounts that it was about two days later he learned through a Louisville, Ky., newspaper that he lay in the couple getting to and back from Shawneetown to Owensboro, Ky., has caused the calling off of a scheduled appearance of Victor Borge in a one night show at Owensboro.

A story written by Mrs. Borge which appeared in the American Weekly Magazine Sunday tells of this nerve wrecking night and Mr. Harmon now is kept busy relating the happenings of the evening, especially to his patrons, one of whom, Freeman Morse, is shown in above photo, learning about the incident.

He points out that the story, as far as he can learn, is correct in every detail with the exception that there had been no pre-arrangement for the wedding and he did not know that he was to perform a ceremony that particular evening.

It is commonly known that many weddings are performed in Shawneetown each week and those who perform the ceremonies rarely know ahead of time when they are to be called upon for such services.

Mr. Harmon adds a bit of humor to the story in revealing that Borge's manager made available a fifth of imported brandy and after the ceremony a toast to the bride was proposed. In the excitement on departing they almost left the bottle in the room, but it was called to their attention by Mrs. Harmon. Mr. Harmon noted that the small portions of brandy were far from being equal to those normally poured on such occasions.

Victor Borge was 44 and Sanna S. Roach, his bride, was 32, when they applied for their license at the Gallatin County clerk's office on the night of March 17, 1953. Their address was Southbury, Conn.

Mrs. Borge's account of the eventful evening follows:

We fell in love and planned to marry when we reached New York, but in the meantime Borge was scheduled for an appearance in Owensboro, Kentucky, my birthplace.

Father, who had since moved from Owensboro, met us and asked, "Why don't you have the wedding here?"

It sounded like a good idea but turned into a mad experience. First we were balked by a three day waiting period required by Kentucky law. Borge's show was for only one night.

With the help of the Owensboro mayor we discovered that marriage laws were less stringent in Illinois. Having alerted the county clerk and a judge in Shawneetown, just across the Ohio River, we started out by car, confident that we would be back long before show time.

When a black cat crossed our path at the outset, father's confidence oozed, and when we got to the home of the doctor who was to sign our blood test certificates an ironing board had fallen on his small son's head and the boy had to be patched up before our business could be attended to.

Then father guided us to a place where he thought the ferryboat landing was. It wasn't. We watched a boat leave the Illinois side, but it never came round the bend to where we were waiting.

We eventually found the ferry landing and got across the river

XXVII

With the voicing of the order, steadiness came back to Lt. Phil Ashland. A coolness he had not known since the attack began, coursed through him. It was like a runner catching his second wind. Half a stride behind him came the trooper, clumsy footed, still mumbling to himself.

Far out in the clammy, dripping mystery ahead, guns were now hammering an almost solid echo, and here and there around Phil, small scattered impacts sounded. At first he did not understand, but when one of the impacts was followed by the sullen, fading whimper of a ricochet, he had his answer. These were spent bullets from the guns of the dismounted cavalry, fighting in from the east.

Grimly, Phil thought, we could kill them, or they us, in this fog

Now again, on the heels of another of the close in, strangely smothered gun reports, lifted the high, agonized crying of a mortally stricken man. At the sound, the trooper with Phil whined like a frightened animal and charged blindly off, boots scraping and crunching on lava rock, brush crackling under his lunging weight. He ran right out into a second of silence, followed instantly by a wail of stark terror, the more heart-stopping because of the manner in which it tailed off swiftly into a muffled, downward-fading note into the depths of the earth itself. It ceased abruptly when, from far below, lifted the sound of sudden impact.

Spine prickling, Phil Ashland followed where the trooper had gone, moving ahead with the greatest care. Instinct, as much as anything, stopped him short of a scanty fringe of brush. Beyond that brush fringe lay an irregular, yawning blackness some 12 feet across. Carrying up out of that Stygian pit came the small, faint echo of trickling lava fragments.

Phil backed away. Now, off to his right, he heard voices and when—but could not find Shawneetown.

A flood had caused it to be relocated several miles up into the hills. When we reached Shawneetown, the courthouse was deserted. We finally caught up with the clerk and, with papers duly prepared, went to the judge's home.

Standing around a circular dining table we listened as he opened the wedding service in a voice that sounded just like Borge's when he does his comic Phonetic Punctuation number. Tears of laughter rolled down my cheeks. Borge thought I was overcome by tender emotion.

Of course the wedding ring could not be found in any of the men's pockets and finally after a frantic search, it was discovered in the bottom of my purse.

he moved that way, found men of his strayed platoon, behind a low rim. Grimes, the burly sergeant, swore his relief.

"Seeing you safe, puts heart in me again, Lieutenant. The men want to make a fight of it, if they could just see something to fight. So far, there's been nothing but gun flashes. And after every one, it seems, there's another man down, dead or wounded."

Phil nodded, dropping to his heels. "Where are the rest of the men?"

"Scanson and Murry both dead, sir. Barrow and Dean back yonder a bit, wounded. Barrow's bad, good as dead I'm afraid. Some of the others got scattered. Like Parker and French. I ain't seen either of them since we got into these lavas."

"They're both done for." Phil's words ran a little tight. "Parker was shot. French was with me for a little time, but he stampeded and ran right into a pot hole."

"You mean—buried alive, sir?"

"He fell too far to stay alive."

Of a sudden, Phil was avid with thirst. Grimes pushed a canteen at him and he held himself to a single mouthful. Phil stood up, straightening his shoulders.

"All right, men! We go ahead. Keep within a stride of one another if you can, so there'll be no more scattering. Guide on me."

So they went ahead, slowly, carefully.

The merciless lava sliced at the soles of their boots. It scraped and gouged and brought blood wherever it touched when a man stumbled or fell.

The Modoc, well aware that here was the beginning of the end for him and all his people, knowing that there neither could or would be any drawing back and that eternity waited his ancient heritage, fought with every deadly trick he knew.

Some among him could speak the white man's language, and a voice called through the smother.

"Over here, you men!"

The words were plain, but the tone was guttural and an alarm rang in Lt. Phil Ashland's brain and he held his men back. But some stray troopers, lost to their command and desperate to make contact again, closed in on the call. Rifle fire burst from the lava all about them, and there they died, four of them.

All cohesion of forces had been lost, and direct line of command no longer existed. And when distant bugles shouted bravely, men no longer cared or listened. The virus of complete defeat was there and steadily deepening. Men began to skulk and slither away, intent on but one thing—to find a way out of this deadly trap of fog-shrouded lava where death struck suddenly and mercilessly and unseen.

Phil Ashland tried to hold the remnants of his little command together, but in the space of less than a minute, lost another man killed and another man wounded. And it was while he and Grimes, his faithful sergeant, were caring for this wounded one that the distant, nervous bugles finally sounded a note which men would now pay attention to. It was recall.

The sound was as welcome to Phil Ashland as to his men. Vaguely he wondered if he shouldn't know shame at his feeling of relief, for recall in this battle spelled defeat—defeat in the first real action of his military career. Perhaps, according to the shouters and flag wavers, he should have known shame. Instead, just a vast relief.

Transit Official Warns Autos Hurt Downtown Business

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — When downtown shopping and business areas cease to be "a place of convenience for people, downtown will cease to exist," a transit official warned today.

Paul O. Dittmar, president of South Suburban Safeway Lines Inc. and also president of the American Transit Assn., discussed automobile congestion in America's cities, and warned the automobile is "strangling" downtown business.

He was a speaker at the 44th annual Illinois highway engineering conference at the University of Illinois here. "Only transit can save downtown," and cities are going to have to stop "favoring and subsidizing" of automobiles on their streets, he said.

Z. A. Faulkner, Evanston city traffic engineer, disagreed.

Transit officials "refuse to agree that the automobile is here to stay," he charged.

Better traffic and parking management, and "more efficient use of the streets," along with parking lots and structures, will help ease the traffic problem, Faulkner said. "The basic fact is that we all prefer to drive our car wherever we are going . . . and park as close to our destination as possible," he said.

Dittmar charged that cities "subsidize" automobiles by not charging in license fees what it costs to maintain traffic facilities. He estimated the subsidy at $84 per vehicle in Chicago, and $90 in Milwaukee, Wis.

"In most cities transit vehicles bring into downtown over 60 per cent of the customers . . . the automobile may be taking more business to other localities, but it is not bringing more business to downtown," he said.

$197 Million in Insurance Death Benefits in Illinois

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Illinois families received $197,246,000 last year in death benefits from life insurance companies, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

The 1957 death payments were compared with $182,812,000 the year before, under 120,911 policies, 5,200 less than last year. Death benefits paid in Illinois last year were 87 per cent more than 10 years ago, the Institute noted. In 1947, they amounted to $105,514,000 under 87,469 policies. The Institute attributed the increase to the greater amount of life insurance owned and not to a rise in death rates, which declined nationally during the 10 year period.

Oil Found Near Paris

PARIS (U.P.) — French oil fever, which has sent oil stocks soaring since "black gold" was discovered in the Sahara, got another boost today with reports that oil has been found less than 25 miles east of Paris. At the Pethorep Co., which has been drilling for the last 15 months near Crecy en Brie, made a strike Saturday. Lab reports on samples showed today a light oil with high percentage of gasoline.

State Young Woman's Auxiliary to Meet at First Baptist Church Friday

The State Young Women's Auxiliary conference convenes Friday evening at the First Baptist church. This conference, beginning at 7:30 p. m., is for young women sixteen through twenty-four years and is an annual feature for Southern Baptist young women of Illinois. Its purpose is for mission emphasis and inspiration, fellowship and study.

Following the theme, "One Lord—One World—One Life," the young women will be led in their mission thinking by Miss Wilma Weeks, missionary to Indonesia; Miss Doris DeVault, convention-wide Y. W. A. director from Birmingham, Alabama; Miss Helen Sinclair, W. M. U. executive secretary, Carbondale; Mrs. Paul Hays, State W. M. U. president, Harrisburg; and Dr. E. H. Hadley, Professor of Chemistry, S. I. U., Carbondale.

Besides mission messages, conference activities include sectional conferences, skits, presentation of achievement awards, music and meditations given by the state Y. W. A. officers.

A banquet on Saturday evening at the Methodist church will feature an installation of officers conducted by Miss Doris DeVault. The Saturday evening conference session will be held at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist church. The conference closes with the morning worship service on Sunday.

Presiding over the activities of the weekend will be Miss Doris Jean Wilson, State Y. W. A. president, of Mt. Vernon. The program is directed by Mrs. Weldon Rapert, state youth secretary, and sponsored by Woman's Missionary Union of the Illinois Baptist State Association.

It is expected that 225 to 250 young women will attend this convention.

5 Cops Suffer Bruises, Red Ears By Girl Rioters

CHICAGO (AP)—Five policemen today nursed bruises, scratches and red ears—the souvenirs of a brawl with 21 cursing teenage girls on a Chicago Transit Authority bus.

The "junior misses," with tongues as sharp as their fingernails, Wednesday set upon the law officers who interrupted their bullying of schoolgirls from Holy Family High School.

Five of the teen-age rioters were handcuffed and sent to a juvenile home. The 16 others were remanded to their parents after their arrest. Placed in a police patrol wagon, the girls puffed insolently on cigarettes and continued their profanity.

All 21 girls were from Motley School, a branch of Montefiore Social Adjustment School for truants.

Police said two officers had been stationed at the intersection of Chicago and Ashland since Valentine's Day to keep the peace. Patrolmen Frank Rooney and Joseph Dillon got on the bus when they saw the girls light up cigarettes and start molesting the girls from Holy Family.

The girls did not heed the police order to calm down — instead they cursed at them. Several other police were called to maintain order, and the battle got underway. Police finally subdued the girls and turned the bus into a temporary jail, keeping it locked until the girls could be taken to a nearby station and registered.

E. J. O'Neill III, Past President of American Farm Bureau Dies at 82

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP)—Edward J. O'Neill III, 82, who was for nearly four decades the farmer's voice in Washington, died at his home here Wednesday night.

He was past president of the American Farm Bureau Federation and had also headed the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation.

As president of the American Farm Bureau, he was credited with welding the farmers of the South and the ranchers of the Southwest "into a powerful force for agricultural achievement."

He was born Oct. 28, 1875.

Quiz Part-time Student in Girls' Murders

CHICAGO (AP)—A part-time student at Northwestern University, wounded Wednesday in a police chase, today faced questioning in the bizarre murders of three teen-age girls.

Authorities said Barry Z. Cook, 23, a construction worker, confessed to police that he was responsible for "about six" knifings and assaults on women. Cook was hospitalized at Edgewater Hospital with three bullet wounds when he tried to outrun four detectives.

Two of the four detectives who seized Cook, Joseph Ponicki and John Tyndall, have been conducting a full-time investigation into the torso slaying last August of 15-year-old Judith Mae Anderson. Judith Mae's body was hacked apart and put in two oil drums which later were found floating in Lake Michigan.

Cook also faced questioning in the Grimes sisters murders in December, 1956. The nude bodies of Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, were found dumped on a lonely road on the outskirts of Chicago almost a month later.

Cook, who takes art and psychology courses at Northwestern twice a week, was working on a construction job Wednesday when the four detectives approached and told the husky, crew-cutted young man he was being arrested. One of the detectives explained it was in connection with a series of knifings, assaults and robberies on young women.

"I guess you got the right guy," the detectives quoted him as saying. "I did about six of them."

With that, Cook dashed into an alley and was shot down after ignoring several warning shots. Cook was later identified at Edgewater Hospital, and from pictures by several of his alleged victims.

Of Galatia Dies

Mrs. Anna Gregory, 75, resident of Galatia, died in the Harrisburg hospital at 8 p. m. Wednesday. She is survived by her husband, H. A. Gregory. The body will lie in state at the Courtney funeral home in Galatia until the funeral at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Galatia Methodist church. Rev. Homer Young, Nashville, will officiate assisted by the church pastor, Rev. Peter Kunnen. Burial will be in the Weber Camp Ground.

Graveside Service

For Yokum Infant

Robert Lynn Yokum, 3-day-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Yokum, Eldorado, died in the Weber Memorial hospital at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday morning.

There was a graveside service at 11 a. m. today in the Masonic and I.O.O.F. cemetery at Benton. Rev. Carl Whittington officiated and the Drake funeral home of Benton was in charge of the arrangements.

Crash Kills Four Jet Crewmen

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A team of air crash experts were scheduled to arrive here today to investigate the cause of a plane crash that took the lives of four Air Force jet bomber crewmen Wednesday.

A six engine RB47 bomber crashed and burned in a field about six miles south of here Wednesday afternoon. The plane was returning to the Lockbourne Air Force Base at Columbus from a routine training flight.

An Air Force spokesman said early today it was not known whether the plane exploded in flight or after it crashed.

The plane plowed into the ground about 30 feet from an empty farmhouse near the small community of Sugar Grove. It was completely destroyed.

The Air Force identified the four victims as 1st Lt. George M. Reiley, 25, Hyattsville, Md., pilot; 1st Lt. Theodore L. Jenner, 26, Evansville, Ind., the aircraft commander; 1st Lt. Alvin B. Storey, 25, Charlotte, N. C., second pilot; and 1st Lt. Earl N. Fogle, 27, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Jehovah Witness

Minister Visits Local Congregation

Earl R. Buckley, a travelling minister representing the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, is visiting Harrisburg this week in order to observe the extent of the preaching activity engaged in by the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. After working with the local group Mr. Buckley will be in a position to instruct them in better ways that may be used to carry out the benevolent work of "preaching this good news of God's Kingdom."

Mr. Buckley will culminate his visit this week with a lecture to Return from Vacation Trip in the South

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Belbas and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Jones, the last two from Paducah, have returned from a winter vacation. They spent a week in New Orleans and were there for the big snow and the Mardi Gras. The parades and exciting give-aways from the floats were quite something, Mrs. Belbas said.

In Florida they visited Miami, Key West, Fort Lauderdale, Daytona Beach, and the Cypress gardens and found Daytona Beach the most delightful. They also visited Atlanta, Ga., and Biloxi and then to Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain.

In New Orleans they visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shepherd.

Rites at Marion for Former Postmaster

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today in the Warder Street Baptist church in Marion for William Hunter McAlpin, 72, former postmaster of Marion, who died Tuesday. The Rev. Norris Hamlin and the Rev. Wesley Pearce, the latter of Springfield, officiated. Burial was in the Rose Hill cemetery at Marion.

Electrocuted When TV Antenna Hits Power Line

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—One man was killed and another was injured Wednesday when a television antenna they were working on came in contact with a 7,200-volt power line.

Lester Cronister, 49, died apparently from electrocution. His brother-in-law, Taylor Baumgardner, who was helping move the antenna, was injured.

British Plane Crashes; 34 Persons Killed

BOLTON, England (AP)—A chartered British airliner crashed into a fog-shrouded foothill of the Pennine Mountains of Northern England early today with a heavy loss of life.

Rescue officials estimated 34 of the 42 persons aboard were killed. The accident occurred in a snow-isolated region only 15 miles from Manchester, England's fourth largest city. The scene is about 175 miles northwest of London in the heavily populated Midlands.

The plane was a British-built, two-engine "Bristol Freighter," owned by the Silver City Airways, an independent airline specializing in overwater ferry flights within the British Isles.

When it crashed, it was carrying a group of auto dealers from the Isle of Man, an out-of-the-way resort island which lies between England and Ireland, on a visit to an auto supply factory in Manchester.

The plane hit 1,500-foot-high "Winter Hill" not far from Bolton.

No one knew about the crash until one of the survivors struggled into a television transmitter station atop the peak, where six engineers had been marooned for three days by snowdrifts left by last Tuesday's blizzard.

Silent Husband

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Phyllis Burgess received a divorce from her husband, Ronald, after testifying that for a major portion of their 11-year marriage he said "good bye" to her in the morning, "hello" in the evening, and nothing else.

Galatia Community Unit School District Praised by State Visitor

Jack Large, superintendent of the Galatia Community unit school district (the only district of this type in Saline county), today received a letter from Ethel Beryl Miller, assistant superintendent of public instruction, concerning her recent visit to schools in this district.

Miss Miller states in her letter "this new unit is well on its way to becoming an effective, well organized unit. We were quite happy about a number of things we saw and in hearing of future plans which are being put into effect even now."

The letter pointed out that the closing of the Neal school was a step in the right direction since children in a larger school have advantages that are not offered in a one room school. Miss Miller commended the curricular offerings in the elementary schools but pointed out deficiencies in the high school curriculum. The administration is well aware of these deficiencies and has made plans to correct them before the schools open next September. Foreign language, chemistry, and more courses in social studies will be offered. This will, of course, necessitate the employment of additional teachers.

The school visitors were well pleased with the music programs in the unit but pointed out the unfortunate situation in the high school, where music classes must be conducted on the stage in the gym or in the cafeteria. The participation of many students in agriculture was commendable since this is primarily an agricultural community.

The visitors pointed out several curricular areas in which there is a shortage in instructional equipment. Plans are being made to correct this situation but it will take time to adequately equip all three schools.

Mr. Large stated that the board of education for this new unit district has worked diligently and with a great deal of harmony. The men whom the voters chose to govern their school district are sincerely interested in all the boys and girls in the community and they are making a concerted effort to offer a good educational program on both the elementary and secondary levels.

Lawrenceville Loan Firm Robbed

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—Police Chief Jesse Batchelar said he thinks the armed robber who took $873 from a Lawrenceville loan company Tuesday is the same one who staged a holdup here Jan. 16.

The bandit brandished a pistol at the Pioneer Finance Co. at Lawrenceville and forced Mrs. Vera Stevens, 29, a clerk, to lie on the floor while he looted the office.

The robbery last month at the Home Loan Co. here netted $900. Batchelar said both robbers wore a cap, dark glasses and a red bandanna and operated in the same way.

Cincinnati's Robertson Scores 50 Points in 91-73 Triumph Over St. Louis

By United Press
Utah, Tennessee Tech and Miami U., Ohio, marched into post-season basketball tournaments today but still had to play second fiddle to Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, who regained the national scoring lead.

Utah (16-6) became the seventh team named for the 12-team National Invitation tournament March 13-22 at New York. Tennessee Tech (17-8) beat Morehead State, 66-63, in overtime to win the Ohio Valley conference title and an automatic berth in the NCAA tournament. Miami (15-7) also made the grade for the NCAA competition with an 82-73 victory over Marshall that wrapped up its second straight Mid-American conference championship.

Scores 50 Points
But the individual glory went to Robertson, the Cincinnati sophomore who scored 50 points in a 91-73 triumph over St. Louis. The six-foot-five youngster from Indianapolis thus grabbed back the scoring lead from Elgin Baylor of Seattle with an average of 34.73 points per game to Baylor's 33.76.

Robertson's spree against St. Louis set a Cincinnati Field House record and also broke Missouri Valley Conference season records for total points and field goals. What's more, he played an outstanding defensive game, nabbing 23 rebounds and holding Jack Nimitz, who had been averaging 18.5 points per game, to nine points.

The victory assured Cincinnati of a tie for the conference title, which also means a spot in the NCAA tournament. Cincinnati (12-1) can clinch matters by beating Wichita Saturday or can back in if Bradley (10-2) loses either to Tulsa Saturday or Wichita Monday.

First Home Loss
Kenny Sidwell's 16 points led

Tennessee Tech to victory over Morehead, which suffered its first home court loss in 35 games. However, Tech may decline the tournament trip because three key players are playing their fourth varsity season and thus must sit out the 24-team NCAA tourney.

Miami, boosting its Mid-American Conference record to 11-0, trailed Marshall by three points with six minutes remaining before pulling it out.

Tennessee Tech plays Notre Dame while Miami meets Pittsburgh in the opening round of the NCAA Midwest regionals.

In other games involving tournament-bound teams, Fordham (NIT) whipped Army, 92-76, for its highest score in history; Temple beat Lafayette, 77-54; Idaho State (NCAA) beat Portland, 61-50; Niagara (NIT) turned back Buffalo, 65-53; and St. Peter's, N. J. (NIT) defeated Adelphi, 77-55.

Two Games by Saline County Teams Remain Before Tournaments

Two games — one Friday and another Saturday—are all that remain on Saline county high school basketball schedules to be played before the tournaments start.

Friday night Zeigler plays at Galatia. This game originally was listed for Friday, Feb. 21, but a broken water main to the Galatia high school caused the game to be re-scheduled.

Saturday night Metropolis comes to Carrier Mills.

Next week the regional tourneys get underway. Three Saline county schools—Harrisburg, Carrier Mills and Eldorado—will join with Shawneetown, Equality, Ridgway, Norris City and McLeansboro in the Eldorado regional. Galatia has been assigned to the regional at West Frankfort.

By BILL MELTON

Any of the participating schools in the regional basketball tourney to be played at Eldorado next week are welcome to practice in the ETHIS gym Athletic Director Al Adams has announced.

Coach Tony Franc put his Equality Cardinals through a workout on the Eldorado floor Wednesday morning and Coach A. I. Willis is planning to take his Carrier Mills Wildcats to Eldorado Monday morning for a session.

Any coach wishing to take his squad for a workout is invited to call Adams and a schedule will be worked out. Adams said the best time to use the gym would be from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m.

The gym cannot be used Tuesday, day the tournament starts.

Ridgway has been added to the Carrier Mills basketball schedule for next season, but Vienna will be missing.

Coach Willis said Vienna asked to be relieved from an agreed-on date so another game with Metropolis, where there is a greater rivalry, could be added.

And home-and-home schedules with both Norris City and Shawneetown have been halved to where each school will be played but once next season. A home-and-home series has been arranged with the Ridgway club.

Each year the Carrier Mills Lions club entertains all members of the CMHS basketball squad and in years past the entertainment has been a big banquet.

This year the Lions have come up with something new.

Friday night all cagers will be taken to Carbondale where they will be guests of the Lions for supper at the Thompson Point cafeteria on the SIU campus. Then the players will witness the SIU-Central Michigan basketball game as guests of the university.

Transportation will be furnished by various members of the Lions club who will drive their automobiles.

And still on the entertainment angle—the Carrier Mills team was banqueted again this evening—the fourth time since winning the Saline County tournament.

SCORING RECORDS — Last Friday night a new scoring record for the Murphysboro high school was set when the Red Devils ran up a 96-79 victory over Anna. The previous record of 94 points was established during the 1956-57 season.

Saturday night Francis Florian set a new individual record for West Frankfort by rolling in 42 points as he and his Red Bird teammates defeated Johnston City 100-54.

Florian played only 21 minutes of the game as the reserves saw lots of action. The old WF individual record was 36, set by Bill Woods in 1951 against Benton.

The second annual Women's Ten Pin Classic Bowling Tournament, sponsored by the Evansville Press, will be held late in April and early in May, with the deadline for filing entries March 29.

The tournament will be held at the Evansville Rose Bowl Lanes, 116 1-2 N. W. First, Evansville.

The Hickman Whirlaways, Indianapolis, won the 1957 event. A copy of the tournament rules and all other information regarding the bowling event has been received by the Register sports department and anyone interested call the sports desk.

Carrier Mills-Shawneetown Tilt To Open Regional Tourney Tuesday

Winner at Eldorado Will Advance to Sectional Here

Tuesday, March 4 at 7 p. m. Carrier Mills and Shawneetown will pry open the 1948 Eldorado regional basketball tournament. Play will continue through Friday, with the winner advancing to the Harrisburg sectional.

J. Ward Barnes, Eldorado high school principal and tournament manager, has forwarded a letter to participating schools with tournament information and under the heading "Service To The Public" is the following—"Parking attendants will be available to assist in the parking problem. Hat and coat check racks are provided in the main lobby under the sponsorship of the F.H.A. The Hi-Y and the FFA operate concession stands in the lobby and in the southwest corner of the gym. Both men and women's rest rooms are located in both the northwest and southeast corner of the gymnasium. A public telephone booth is located in the main lobby. A doctor, ambulance and first aid room are available at all times. If the need arises for this latter service please contact the press booth."

Regarding the parking of automobiles, always a problem at an event of this type regardless of where it is held, Mr. Barnes stated he was working with the Eldorado police and hoped a plan similar to the one used when Harrisburg played football at Eldorado could be established. This included parking practically solid in the streets on the west and south sides of the high school.

Plans to build two parking lots near the gym have been delayed by the bad weather.

Attendants will be on duty all nights of the tournament to help with the automobile parking situation.

General admission to each session of the tournament will be 75 cents for adults, 60 cents for grade and high school students. Reserved chairs will be $1. There will be reserved bleacher seats for the final session and these seats will sell for 90 cents.

Students buying tickets at the gym must have identification cards in order to get the 60 cent admission rate.

Doors will open at 6 p. m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and at 6:45 Friday.

Tickets were delivered to all participating schools Wednesday by Mr. Barnes and each town will establish its method of hand-

Celtics Clinch Eastern Title

With the Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association safely tucked away for the second straight season, the Boston Celtics could afford to relax today while three other division rivals battled for the two remaining playoff berths.

The Celtics, who have been in first place from the start of the current season, clinched the division title with a 106-99 victory over the Detroit Pistons Wednesday night in the second game of a double-header at Detroit. The Western Division champion St. Louis Hawks, who clinched last weekend, defeated the Cincinnati Royals, 105-103, in the opener.

Meanwhile, the second-place Syracuse Nationals moved three games up on the third-place Philadelphia Warriors by beating the Minneapolis Lakers, 110-90, while the Warriors dropped a 112-96 decision to the last-place New York Knickerbockers.

Spartans Top Defense; Indiana Scoring Leader

CHICAGO (AP) — Two of the four Big Ten basketball pace set- ters, Michigan State and Indiana, furnished reasons for their lofty positions in conference statistics today.

The Spartans, tied with Purdue for first place, are the best de- fensive team in the league per- mitting opponents only 69.6 points per game. They also have the best field goal shooting percent- age, 40.5.

Indiana, tied with Iowa for third place, leads in scoring with an average of 80.1 points per game. Purdue is fourth in scoring, Mi- chigan State fifth, and Iowa sixth.

Iowa has committed fewer fouls than any other team in the league, 14.7 per game, while Mi- chigan is second at 16 per game.

There were few changes in in- dividual scoring leaders with Archie Dees of Indiana remaining in first place with a 25.3 average. However, George Kline of Minne- sota tallied 38 points Monday to close Dees' margin and remained second with a 24.2 average.

Others in the top 10 scorers were Dave Gunther, Iowa, 21.0; Don Ohl, Illinois, 20.5; Pete Til- lotson, Michigan, 19.6; John Green, Michigan State, 18.3; M. C. Burton, Michigan, 18.2; Joe Ruklick, Northwestern, 17.4; Wil- son Elson, Purdue, 17.2 and Phil Warren, Northwestern, 16.9.

AF Discloses Plans For World Circling Nuclear Aircraft

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force disclosed today plans for a fleet of nuclear powered aircraft that can circle the globe indefi- nitely and counterattack instantly with ballistic missiles if war comes.

A "nomadic patrol of nuclear propelled aircraft" was one of several planned weapons systems outlined by the Air Force at the annual Air Force Assn. jet-age conference.

The service also gave new de- tails on its proposed "Dyna Soar" dynamic soaring airplane which will be able to circle the earth several times and pinpoint targets from satellite altitudes of 200 to 300 miles.

The "orderly glimpse into the future" was given the 2,000 indus- trialists, military men and educa- tors attending the conference by Maj. Gen. James Ferguson, Air Force director of requirements.

He warned the country "not to be stampeded" into outer space and unmanned missile projects to the exclusion of manned aircraft.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

A single smile can project itself from face to face until its influ- ence is multiplied in geometric progression. If two people saw the smile and each turned their happiness toward two more peo- ple who each smiled at two more downcast folk the results would be amazing. Multiplied only 25 times there would be well over 30 million happy faces.

Instead of merely smiling we can tell the glad tidings of the love of God. We can minister twice each day in our quiet witness for God. If we do this effectively enough that others do the same thing, we can encircle the globe with God's message in a very few days.

Even if the progression is bro- ken we must constantly witness for the "peace which passeth under- standing" to become real to a world steeped in fear and hate.

Harvard was established in 1636.

Cub Pack 13 Holds Regular Meeting; Awards Presented

Cub Scout Pack 13 held its reg- ular monthly meeting Tuesday eve- ning in the Christian church. The meeting opened with the group singing "America" followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag, led by Boy Scout Webb Gaskins.

During the business meeting the theme for March was announced as "Alaska." It was also decided to resume the showing of work of the boys at the pack meetings. The money from the sale of shampoo was collected, a project with which the boys increased their treasury holdings.

Following are the awards pre- sented at this meeting: Wolf badge, Brad Wilson and Burnett Franks; Bear badge, Stanley Hull, Forrest Moore and Peter Hudes; one year service star, Stanley Hull; two year service star, Michael Brown, John Mugge, Forrest Moore and Richard Coker.

Introduce Bill To Wipe Out Top Pentagon Jobs

WASHINGTON (UP) — Three key House members—a Republi- can and two Democrats—intro- duced today a bill to wipe out 14 top-level Pentagon jobs as part of an overall streamlining of the De- fense Department.

The measure also would abolish 1,800 of the 2,400 jobs in the of- fice of the secretary of defense and make other changes intended to eliminate "weaknesses in the present organization."

The measure was sponsored jointly by Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee, House Republican Whip Leslie O. Arends (R-Ill.), and Rep. Paul J. Kilday (D-Tex.). Arends and Kilday are members of Vinson's committee.
